Session Information

Session Title: *

Max length: 100 characters

Please describe your session, including the questions it will engage, its goals, and what each presenter will bring to the conversation. This description may be used when the conference program is published: *

0/400

Please explain how you will encourage audience participation: *

The National Humanities Conference draws participants from across the humanities community, including state humanities councils, colleges, universities, museums, libraries and other cultural institutions. Please explain how your session will appeal across different participation groups.

Session Presentation Information

In addition to our in-person event, we are currently planning a small number of virtual sessions in conjunction with the conference. Please indicate how you are interested in conducting your session: *

Standard session times are 55 minutes long. We have a limited number of slots for extended sessions of 90 minutes (an hour and a half) and 180 minutes (3 hours). Does your session require an extended session block? *

Yes

No

What is the length your session requires? *

Please explain explain the need for additional time: *

If your session is selected, we hope to schedule your session so that all members of your presentation can attend. Do you have any scheduling conflicts, that you are currently aware of, for you and/or your panelists between Thursday, November 10 and Sunday, November 13, 2022? *

Yes

No

Please list, in detail, your scheduling conflicts: *

Please note that all conference panelists will be expected to register for the conference when registration opens this summer.

The National Humanities Conference strives to include participants and partners in a wide range of backgrounds and institutions. As in past years, we will have a limited number of grants available to offset registration costs and other costs associated with the conference and will give priority to students, contingent faculty, community partners, and participants who lack institutional support to attend.

By clicking "I agree", you are acknowledging that all of your panelists are expected to register for and attend the conference. *

I agree
